

Hacky Sacks..

Hacky Sacks are a great way to improve reflexes and have fun with your friends, so what better way to spend a lazy Sunday than making your own. Around 35 students got involved in the activity under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Holt, Marks & Broun, making Hacky Sacks every colour you could think of.

We can only hope they are as fun to play with as they were fiddly to make !!

Clockwise from top:
The finished product
Tori Ness & Mrs Marks at work
Alice Keitel all smiles
Jacob Hobbs cutting patterns
Jessie Barker, Marnie Lloyd
Woods & Belinda Diprose filling
and stitching

Indoor Carpet Bowls

A day of indoor carpet bowls was had in the cleared out dining room on the 27th of July. Students rolled down a few balls throughout the afternoon, before pitching in to return the eating area to its usual state. It was great to see this activity so well supported and enjoyed.

Left: Year 11 student Luke Treeby lets fly

Right: Discussing the finer points of the game; Dianna, Verity, Asen, Casey, Andrew and Marnee.

Where are those whales?

A small group of potential whale watchers headed out along Albany's coastline, seeking a glimpse of these famous mammals. After checking various locations without a sighting, the intrepid bunch had to console themselves with the stunning views from atop the famous "sparkplug" lookout.

Above: Casey Ganser, Alice Keitel and Riki-Jo Duff taking in the view
Right: Shianna Sebastian inside the "Sparkplug"

Just as a leader will choose how they lead
So too will a follower choose who they follow - Anon

College Football tipping to Round 19..

1st Melvyn & Brandon 111
2nd Ashley Barker 107
3rd Shannen Higginson 105

4th Dean Peuker 103
5th Chantal & Sam 102
6th Nikki Dumbrell 100

TERM 3 DATES TO REMEMBER

CLOSED
WEEKEND

September
6th—7th

Jerramungup &
Ongerup
buses will be running

Karaoke Night
On Friday 29th of September
at 7.00pm
Bring your singing
voices!
(in tune preferably)
A great night to be
had, so please make
an effort to attend

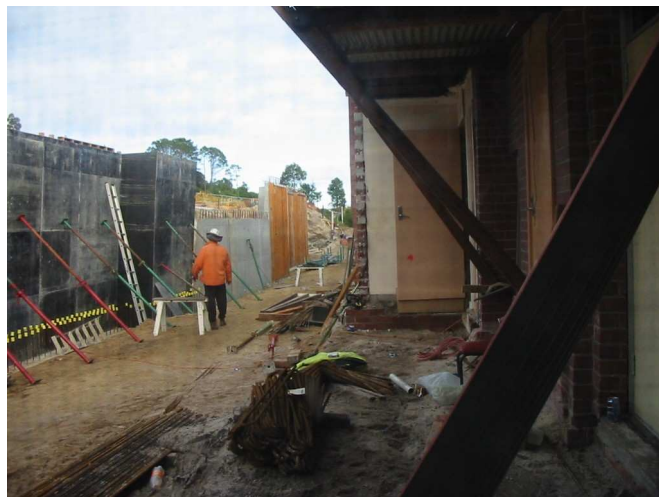

Yourtutor.com
is being well
supported by students at the College,
this FREE
service is still available to anyone requiring assistance
with their homework.
See staff for details.

Junior
Late Night Shopping
Thursday Evening
September 4th

Building Continues....

Construction begins on the staff quarters at the rear of the College.

One of many retaining walls being built on the site.

You'll find re enrolment forms for 2009 enclosed with this newsletter...please complete them and have them returned to the College by August 15 to avoid disappointment

CHSHA Visit

Mr. Jim Hopkins Director of the CHSHA, recently visited the college. He was in Albany to take a look at the progress of building and general running of the College, Jim mixed with management, staff and students alike and talked of all matters pertaining to residential college life. The comprehensive two day visit saw Mr Hopkins share meals, join in at staff meetings, inspect dorms and oversee the daily routine at the College. Mr. Hopkins commented that he enjoyed the warm atmosphere and general feeling of the College and would have no qualms at sending his own children here.

New Members join the Board...

Albany Residential College welcomes two new members to the Board of Management. Mrs. Jodi McFarlane, mother of two students, has joined the Board for the first time. A new Chairperson has also joined us, Richard Simonaitis, a former student and current zone manager for CBH Albany, is also a new and valued inclusion to the management team. We extend a warm welcome to both and look forward to receiving your ideas and input.

Above: New member on the Board of Management, Mrs. Jodi McFarlane.

2008 PARENT SURVEY
ALBANY RESIDENTIAL COLLEGE

- RATING SCALE
- 6 Very High Quality
 - 5 High Quality
 - 4 Good
 - 3 Adequate
 - 2 Inadequate - considerable improvement needed
 - 1 Unacceptable Quality - considerable improvement needed urgently

Satisfaction Rating:	Albany	Average
Good or Better than Good (ratings 4 - 6)	93.48%	90.07%
Adequate or Better than Adequate (ratings 3 - 6)	97.83%	96.81%
Response Rate:	48% (46/96)	44% (286/654)